

BY THE LIGHT (OF THE MOON)

Can you see the moon right now? Sometimes it shines in the night sky. Sometimes clouds cover it up. And sometimes it's out in the daytime instead! Try to track down this changeable character and take note of how it looks today.

DRAW THE SHAPE OF THE MOON

A large, empty white rectangular box intended for the student to draw the current shape of the moon.

Describe how the moon looks in words.

Describe the sky around the moon. Is it daytime or nighttime? What color is the sky? Are there clouds? Can you see any stars? Do you see anything else interesting or unusual?

The moon appears to change its shape over a month's time. The sky can look different every single day. Try doing this activity again and see how your descriptions change!
